

GTC NUTRITION TO CONDUCT A FORUM AT THE 2005 INSTITUTE OF FOOD TECHNOLOGISTS' ANNUAL MEETING AND FOOD EXPO
Forum to Highlight Low Glycemic Nutrition Trends

GOLDEN, Colorado, Thursday, June 16, 2005 – GTC Nutrition, a business unit of Corn Products International, Inc. (NYSE: CPO), announced today that the Company will conduct a forum on low glycemic foods and nutrition at the Institute of Food Technologists' (IFT) Annual Meeting and Food Expo. The forum is scheduled to take place Monday, July 18, 2005 from 2 – 5 p.m. at the Ernest N. Morial Convention Center in New Orleans, Louisiana.

GTC Nutrition is one of the select few companies invited by the IFT to organize a forum, which will focus on the issues associated with low glycemic foods and ingredients. The forum, “The Glycemic Concept: The Next Wave in Nutrition?,” will be presented by an expert panel to explain the implications of employing glycemic strategies in food products that may provide sustainable opportunities for the food industry.

“The glycemic concept may present the opportunity for food manufacturers to bring healthier products to a consuming public looking to improve and maintain wellbeing,” said Linda C. Douglas, R.D., Ph.D., scientific affairs manager for GTC Nutrition. “In the forum discussion, we will explore the modification of carbohydrate-based ingredients, the physiology and science behind the glycemic concept, testing methods, and the changing landscape that manufacturers and consumers are currently navigating.”

Founded in 1939, and with world headquarters in Chicago, Illinois, USA, the Institute of Food Technologists is a not-for-profit international scientific society with 26,000 members working in food science, technology and related professions in industry, academia and government. As the society for food science and technology, IFT brings sound science to the public discussion of food issues. For more on IFT, see www.ift.org.
